Rhinosinusitis

Discover how we've successfully supported one sponsors with their rhinosinusitis clinical trial

CLARINNESS

Consented +220% patients with rhinosinusitis

Overview

A US-based clinical stage company was looking to boost referrals of participants with chronic rhinosinusitis. Partnering with participating sites, we supported the referral to randomization process. This increased site efficiency, with our digital recruitment campaigns, delivered exceptionally high referrals and consented patients.

Key challenges

- EC document approval took longer than expected
- Promoted two similar studies, with differing protocols
- Multiple site-specific challenges:
 - Half the planned number of sites were activated
 - 40% had competing studies underway
 - Many had never worked with a recruitment vendor

Key results

Our digital marketing and site success teams worked with patients and sites to overperform at every step of the patient recruitment funnel vs. our initial projections:

- ✓ +145% registrations
- ✓ +216% referrals
- ✓ +220% consented

Key details:

Adult CRS patients
participants aged under 18

Met the total of referrals in 25% of the time

45 sites in one country and 4 cities
